

Industrial and civil construction

Field of professional activity:

After graduation, graduates can carry out entrepreneurial activities and management of production activities in the construction and housing and communal services, including ensuring and evaluating the economic efficiency of entrepreneurial and industrial activities.

What positions can graduates hold:

industrial and civil engineering engineer, manufacturer of works.

Our partners are companies for employment and internship:

- ✚ Enterprises for the construction,
- ✚ reconstruction and operation of industrial and civil buildings and engineering communications;
- ✚ production of building materials,
- ✚ products and structures.

In the course of training, disciplines will be studied:

Geodesy – fundamentals in engineering surveys;

Building materials – rules for the organization and testing of building structures of products, buildings, structures, engineering systems;

Architecture of buildings and structures - design of construction facilities, and housing and communal services;

Organization, management and planning of construction – rules for organizing the work of small teams of performers, planning the work of personnel and payroll funds.